

Anodized Finishes

LIMITED WARRANTY AND LIABILITY

Apex Aluminum Extrusions Ltd. ("Apex") warrants that the anodic coating applied to aluminum extrusions shall meet AAMA 611-12 Voluntary Specification for Anodized Architectural Aluminum, and shall resist blistering, flaking, cracking and crazing under normal atmospheric conditions. Apex also warrants that colour of anodic coatings will not change or fade more than five (5) Delta E Hunter units as per ASTM method D-2244. We cannot guarantee that the colour of our anodic coatings will change or fade uniformly due to variable exposure to the elements in the field.

The warranty is valid for a period of one (1) year on Class II (.0004", 10 micron) and two (2) years on Class I (.0007", 18 micron) anodizing from the date of delivery of finished goods, subject to but not limited to the following conditions:

- The finished goods must be handled in accordance with AAMA Publication CW-10-12, "Care and Handling of Architectural Aluminum From Shop to Site"
- The anodized materials must be maintained as per AAMA 609 & 610-09 "Cleaning and Maintaining Guide for Architecturally Finished Aluminum". Annual cleaning and maintenance records must be provided to Apex upon request in order to sustain the warranty.
- The anodized material has not sustained water or condensation damage, nor been subjected to standing or pooling water.
- The finished goods have not been damaged by handling, shipping, processing and installation, nor by any form of abuse, abrasion or physical impact, acts of nature, fire flood, acid rain, or any other physical damage whether intentional or accidental.
- The product has not been subjected to a corrosive atmosphere, harmful fumes or foreign substances and have not been welded, formed or bent post anodizing.
- The customer has paid the agreed upon amount owing under the contract or purchase order within their credit terms.

Should a claim arise the following steps are to be followed:

- The alleged failure is reported in writing to Apex Customer Service within 30 days of discovery of alleged defect.
- Customer shall provide proof of delivery date and demonstrate that the product has failed to comply with this warranty.
- Apex will issue RMA as per our Standard Terms and Conditions of Sale
- Apex exclusive liability shall be limited to refinishing the defective anodized materials. The warranty on any refinished material shall extend for the remainder of the original warranty period.

The warranty is extended to our customer and is non-transferable or assignable and Apex makes no other warranties whether expressed or implied.

This Limited Warranty is in addition to Apex Standard Terms and Conditions of Sale.